Dear Parents and Guardians,

This week kicks off the Speech Festival in Victoria. Participating students in grades four to eight performed their duologues this past Monday. Congratulations to all our students. All reports indicate they did very well! This Friday grades one and five students will be performing at St. Matthias Anglican Church on Richmond Avenue, which is just past our Junior Kindergarten facility. Students do best with an appreciative audience; especially when they can see their family smiling at them from the pews, so if you are available, please drop by.

Our Spring Fair is just over a month away and Todd has been busy organizing our volunteers. Our silent auction plays a significant part in our fundraising efforts, and every year many parents canvass businesses they frequent to seek unique and exciting donations. You will find attached to this newsletter a letter of introduction to use when contacting local businesses.

Every year, our fundraising is directed toward a major project determined by the school and PSG. This year, we want to launch a pilot program that will tie in with the new BC Curriculum. We see a huge opportunity to leverage the collaborative and technological skills our young people are developing in a way that allows them to better connect with each other, to learn first-hand about global and local issues, and to develop ideas and solutions for those real world problems. That is compelling learning! Your efforts will help support this new and important initiative.

Have a wonderful day,

Stuart Hall

KEEPING ACTIVE CHILDREN HYDRATED

Active children often need to be encouraged to drink to prevent dehydration (not enough water in the body). Water is the best choice to keep children hydrated. Other good choices are milk and fortified soy, almond or rice beverages.

Sports drinks are over-used and are high in sugar and calories. Sports drinks are intended for rehydration for non-stop physical activity lasting longer than one hour. Energy drinks are not recommended for children.

Keep active children hydrated:

- ◆ Offer water often, especially during activity.
- ◆ Provide water or milk and watery snacks like watermelon, cucumber or smoothies after activity.
- ◆ Avoid or limit juice to 1/2 cup a day.

Is your child's water bottle safe?

Disposable plastic bottles that are filled with water, pop, sports drinks, etc., should not be reused. Use stainless steel bottles or bisphenol A-free (BPA-Free) plastic bottles that are designed for reuse.

Reusable water bottles:

Wash water bottles well by hand each day. Dishwasher water does not reach all parts of the inside of the bottle and may not be the best way to clean bottles. Recycle any bottles that show signs of wear such as scratches, dents, or a cloudy, cracked appearance.
